PUBLIC COMMENT:

- Ronin Lupien:
  - Effective earlier this evening, I have officially retired from writing about student government.
  - I have been conscious of student government in some form for the last few years.
  - I am not uf_politics; some of the things that they say about you are kind of defamatory, and I try to hold myself to a bit of a higher standard.
  - Most of the people in this room have some interest in politics; I'm interested in this because I do believe that student government can be a force for good.
  - I want students to have a more well-rounded view of student government.
  - The food insecurity initiative that Chairperson Stephens has been working on can serve as a model for other senators.
  - I want to thank all of the Alligator reporters that have collaborated with me.
  - Thank you for the work you do and continue to think of the students first.
- Senator Wood-Barron
  - I wanted to thank Chairperson Stephens for all of their help with legislation.
  - I would also like to thank Chairman Cox for all of his help.
  - I came into this with the purpose to be more helpful on campus, not for political reasons.

- I feel like I made a mistake by not contacting people on the sponsor's bill before making last-minute changes.
- I am going to rewrite the bill as a resolution instead of an authorization.
- I'm also working on a bill that would edit the 800 codes so that sexual and reproductive health items can be exempted from the single-use clause.
- If you want to sponsor this bill, please email or text me.
- Chairperson Bowman:
  - I hope we can pass an apportionment bill today.
  - I want us to continue to be a democracy that continues to represent students.
  - I'm very proud of our senate for deciding to increase the funding for student organizations by over a quarter million dollars.
  - I understand that other parts, like the amendment, were not popular.
  - It barely passed, depending on who you ask.
  - I implore our executive to not veto this bill.
  - Navigator is an RTS app made by a student, and I think we should consider commissioning students to create versions for various phone operating systems.
  - CWC administrators are currently compiling information for the previous fiscal year.
  - The committee is currently waiting for a response from President Green regarding holding a graduate student town hall.
- Student Body Treasurer Pierre:
  - I am here today to express my deep concerns about the recent budget amendment vote that occurred last week.
  - You can imagine my shock last Tuesday when I watched what occurred on the live stream.
  - As this pertains to a budget bill, I hope you are all proficient in counting. There were 29 votes for Yes, 34 votes for No, 1 incorrect voter record, 1 abstention, and 2 absences.
  - So, consider which number is greater: 29 or 34. Take your time to reflect on it if you need to.
  - This issue could have been solved several times that night:
  - When Budget Chairman Cox asked if there was any motion to call for a recount in any way and was told "I already announced the results so it's too late" despite there being a motion that could have been made to reconsider the amendment,
  - When a senator asked if the voter record did not match the results, what would happen, and they were basically told that since the voter records are after the fact it doesn't matter,
  - When someone asked a point of information on what was the vote count on the last vote and they were told that the vote was uncounted, and shortly after when a senator asked for a recess and then shouted division before the Senate President hit the gavel and was told there was a clear and convincing vote,

- When Chairman Ghozali then made a point of order to appeal the decision of the chair, a point of order that requires a vote, and the Senate President gave Chairman Ghozali a warning.
  - This is not a joke or some political game you guys can play, and I am speaking to both sides of the aisle. Your decisions affect the university and the entire student body.
  - An inaccurate vote undermines democracy and the integrity of this senate chamber.
  - I urge all of you to consider the potential ramifications of proceeding with a bill that lacks the validity of an accurate vote.
  - Instead, let us prioritize the truth, examine the reasons behind the inaccuracies, and work together to rectify any discrepancies.
  - I encourage you all to think about the failure to follow procedures and the inaccuracies between the voter record and ruling of the vote as you vote tonight.
  - The stakes are too high for a massive mistake to happen on a budget bill so I again encourage you all to consider this and put procedure before party lines.
- Chairman Cox:
    - At the last meeting, the amendment to the budget that I authored was passed, and the vote count was incredibly unclear and the voter records reflect the opposite ruling that was made in the moment.
    - In my eyes, this is a violation of procedure and a major red flag when it comes to the budget.
    - I sent out an email because I found a motion in Robert's Rules that could have alleviated the mistake inside the senate chambers so that we would not have to go through a long and exhaustive process after that.
    - While I appreciate the concerns raised in a follow-up email, I have a few disagreements because frankly, the codes are slightly up for debate.
    - In my opinion, since Amendment 1 was adopted, it is still an amendment, and not a part of the budget.
    - I will still be making the motion, and I will not be surprised when it is ruled dilatory or out of order.
    - I just want to know that I did everything I possibly could in order to alleviate this error.
    - I know the budget process will be dragged out now, so you will hear much more from me.
    - While I feel like the whole budget is now invalidated, I still urge the chamber to approve this bill today, because I recognize that when my motion is ruled out of order it will be out of our hands and it would be best to move it along so that it can be caught in a different place.

- I have been working more on my student org funding model and have met with members from both caucuses to talk about it.
- I randomly selected and emailed twenty organizations to talk about the new model, and only five have responded.
- Majority Party Leader Liang:
  - I wanted to talk as a student about the recent decision by the Rules and Ethics committee to not expunge a half absence from Timothy Sinclair's record.
  - Timothy Sinclair's grandfather was in hospice and he also got a half absence from an incorrect voter record because he got one motion incorrect.
  - He also provided a picture to the R&E committee of him next to his grandfather's casket.
  - I already feel that we missed a really bright light in this chamber.
  - I think sometimes we forget our humanity, so I want to remind all of us that we are all human and I want us to respect that.
  - I know that I haven't been good about that because I have been public enemy #1, majority party leader, and very partisan.
  - I have been disappointed by the last two reapportionment meetings.
  - Two weeks ago, the Gator caucus demanded a 36 seat singular off-campus district which is completely unprecedented.
  - Senator Reich and I came to a compromise where it would be 2 at-large seats.
  - I also sent the plan two nights ago and there was also no descent.
  - We had spent hours scrubbing the data and we had come up with a solution.
  - Gator party did not come with any number or any reasoning why; they just kept on shutting down any explanations or potential compromises and stuck with their 25 at-large seats plan.
  - I think it's funny that now that Gator party has lost two elections in a row and they now want to come back looking for at-large seats when they have no data to back this up.
- Senator Mia:
  - I noticed that in the treasurer's public comment, she said that a division of house was made before the gavel went down; the minutes don't reflect that and neither does the video.
  - I will now read the part of the minutes:
    - Senator Mia gives one minute of final privilege:
    - In an uncounted standing vote, the motion to approve Amendment 1 to SSB 2023-1115 passes.
    - Chairman Cox moves to appeal the decision of the chair that the previous motion passed by a majority vote.

- Earlier in the meeting, Senator Bowman suspended the rules and allowed for the vote to be conducted at the discretion of the chair.
- Procedure was followed during the last senate meeting.
- As for apportionment, the numbers that were reflected were a 5-district model with one of the districts having 2 at-large seats to alleviate some concerns about anyone not being included in any of the other 4 districts.
- I am not sure why there is a need to have 36 at-large seats.
- Block voting is a very inherently undemocratic process of voting.
- If you got 50.1%, you'd win the entire house which makes no sense.
- If you live in Butler Plaza and we had a 36 1-district model, who is going to represent you?
- To combine everyone in a single district is a very partisan thing to do.
- In the past, we as R&E have been a very relaxed committee.
- In a past meeting, Timothy Sinclair had made a mistake on his voter record right after he had just seen his grandfather in hospice.
- I think that is beyond reasonable to expunge an absence.
- Senator Alvarez:
  - I want to address bipartisanship.
  - One of the most critical functions of any governing body is to pass a budget.
  - It is no secret that disagreements between both parties have arisen, but the real test of leadership lies in how we navigate these differences to find common ground.
  - It is essential to recognize that bipartisanship does not mean abandoning our principles.
  - I also want to take a moment to thank Chairman Cox for his kindness and leadership in the Budget committee.
  - Your unwavering commitment to bipartisanship has been nothing short of inspiring, and it has left a lasting impression on me.
  - Passing the budget today in the face of minor disagreements may not seem a straightforward task, but it is our responsibility.
  - As elected officials, we owe it to our constituents to rise above partisanship and deliver fully by sacrificing any personal or party affiliations and prioritize the student body.
- Chairperson Stephens:
  - Throughout the summer semester, I've tried to be patient with the gator party members.
  - Senate president, what is the strategy?
  - Cosplaying as social justice warriors has not been working for the Gator affiliate senators.

- I think we can both agree that this is the work of the system: a corrupt political machine of hive-minded individuals who choose their unpaid legislative internships over supporting programs that would advance student needs/interests.
- We've seen them time and time again try to entrench their power, but once the Change caucus uses the same laws & provisions that they've used for decades, now they have "lost confidence" in the laws and practices of student government.
- What grinds my gears is the opposition leadership who just complains about the rules and laws that they have maintained for decades before.
- It has been severely disappointing to watch the opposition try to sway students by throwing frivolous claims against Change caucus leadership.
- As a caucus, we have offered over 70 pieces of legislation, expanded our liaisons to increase our connection with major campus stakeholders, etc.
- Most importantly, we secured a quarter million dollars back in the hands of student organizations across campus.
- The gator affiliate members will critique and judge us on problems that they created.
- They would rather talk about escape rooms and advocate for candidates who believe that things like this will decrease our carbon emissions.
- Please explain to me how this is improving climate change on campus.
- This government has worked despite the minority party.
- It won't matter if they rebrand to a third party behind the scenes to try and trick constituents because everyone in that party will never wipe away the filth of their malevolent actions that jeopardize a more perfect student government for all gators.
- There's only one caucus that will defend student organizations, and that caucus is the change caucus.
